Activity Diagram – Process Order

With Cuisine, individuals can place orders via our website to have groceries delivered to them. Users can search by two ways: by product or by store (partnered with Cuisine). From there, the user is locked into the selected store to purchase groceries available at that location. After confirming all of their desired products in their cart, the user can then proceed to checkout.

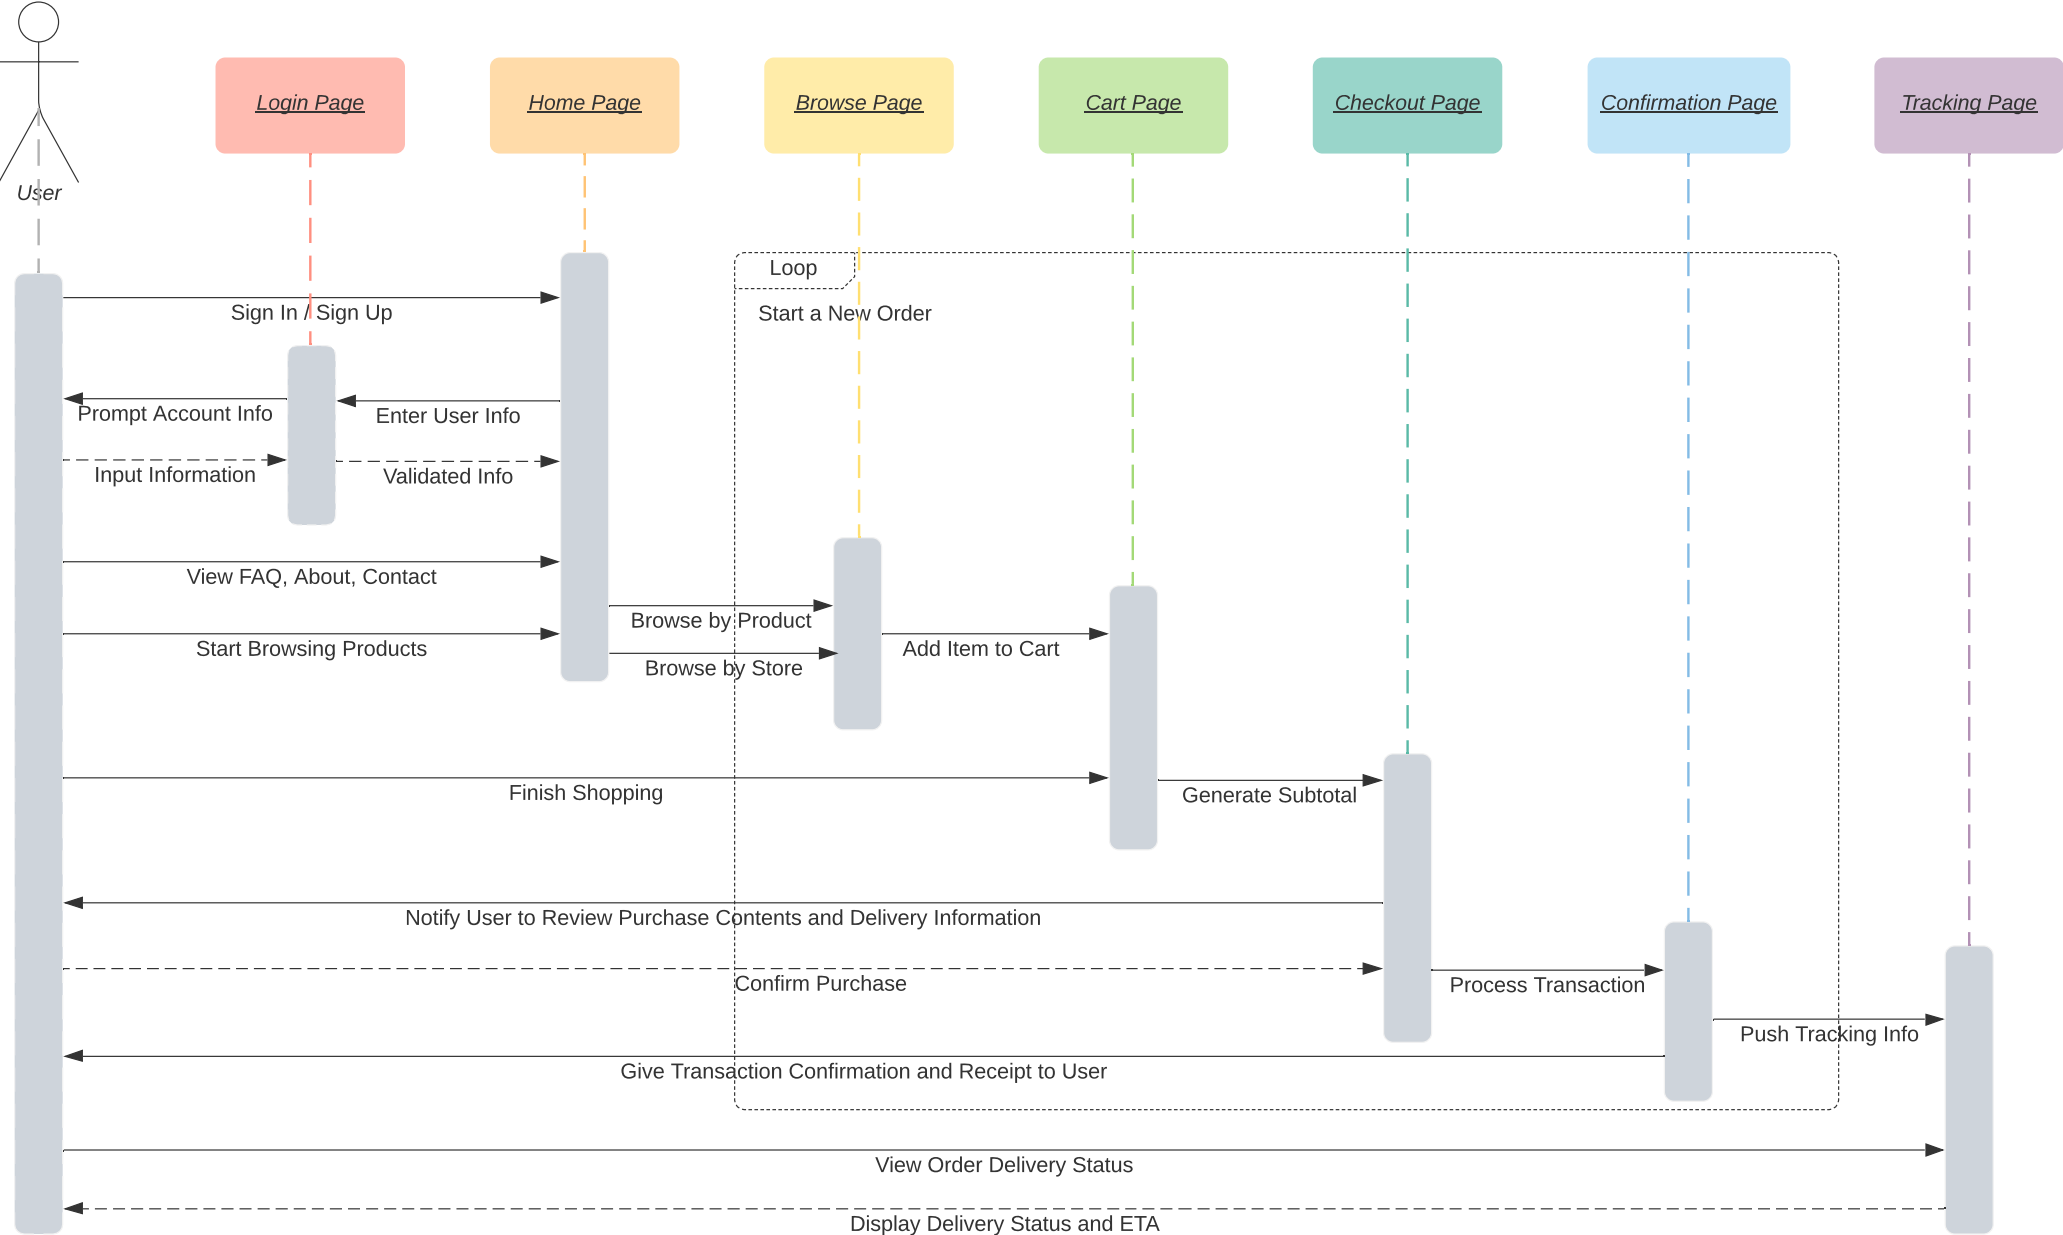

Through checkout, the individual is prompted to select a location and a preferred time of arrival for Cuisine staff to deliver the products. If the user has already set preferences via profile (such as home/pick-up location), this step is processed yet the individual must choose a time of arrival. Then user is prompted to the billing phase. If the user has also saved a preferred way of payment, this process is simplified and asks the user to confirm payment plan.

After all of the data is provided, the user is provided a brief overview of their order to confirm all information. After confirmation the user is given a real-time delivery status of the Cuisine employee fulfilling the order from gathering the groceries to delivery. After successful delivery of goods, the user is prompted with an additional yet optional review and tip for employee.
